MR. CARLESS DAVIS ON NATIONAL SAFETY.

[ [BY HAROLD BEGBIE.]

He is not so sure that peace will bring industrial prosperity. The first thing he would have Parliament do is to prepare for unemployment. No preparation for peace politics is important as this: Our salvation lies war which will call for immediate repairment, he pointed out that four highly industrialised nations will take part in that work-America, France, Germany, and ourselves. Italy, hot quite so, highly industrialised as these four will also engage in the work of repair ment. It will not be long before the material ruin of war is obliterated.

I inquired if he thought the situation might be so serious as to call for State control of industry.

tered a savere blow to that theory State control sounds better than works. I do not imagine that many thoughtful people are in love with this idea. Examine it, with our experience our own security. in war to guide you, and what must be your conclusion! Surely it is this; you introduce a most uneconomical system of production in order to get rid of a vicious distribution of profits. Now the distribution of profits is not so vital a matter'as an economical system of production. The safety of the country, and and the welfare of its industrial population will turn upon one thing-production. We must have such a system

The Far Eastern territory where the Asia Banking Corporation contemplates centring its activities comprises mainly the northern and part of the central provinces of China, Manchuria, and South-Eastern Siberia. Branches of the Corporation will be established in Shanghai, Peking, Tienas tsin, Hankow, Harbin and Vladivostock -strategie trade centres.

The territory to be reached by the Asia Banking Corporation has a variety resources and a variety of climatic conditions, varying from the cool temperate section of northern Manchuria to the enable China not only to take a more sub-tropical section of the area tributary to Hankow and Shanghai in the South. Mauchuria in the North is primarily an ngricultural section, resembling Dakota in climatic and physical features, with an area greater than New York, Pennsylvaniagand, Texas combined. The prinripal agricultural products are beans, maize, millet, wheat, wool, tobacco; hem and rice. The agricultural products which figure mainly in the export > and comen. Manchuria has large areas of virginforest, but adequate transportation lacking to make the timber resources of much commercial value! Mineral wealth abundant, Southern Manchuria being one vast coal field. The Fushun mine is probably the best known of those now in operation, with 20,000 workers. It'is estimated that the seams which are being worked contain approximately 800,000,000 tous of easily accessible coal. Coal is found quite generally in the northern part of Manchuria, but primitive mining methods and luck of adequate capi tal have prevented the full development of cour mining in this section. China, at its present stage of development, is mainly an agricultural country. The great plains of the north-east forming a great half circle with the Shantung peninsula at the centre, and the extensive flood, plains of the lower Yang. the constitute the only large plains areas in China, which comprise scarcely oneeighth of China's surface. Elsewhere only the narrow flood plains and small deltas relieve the usual monotony of the steady nerves, hearty appetite, improved slope and mountain regions. The northern or great plains constitute for the most part the Hwang-ho delta, reaching inland for 400 miles. The Yangtze plain extends inland in a series of basins for 600 miles, separated from the great northern plains by ranges of hills and mountains. These two plains coalesce, for 88, post free, by the China Offices of however, in the east so that continuous wide plains extend from Hang-Chow to Peking, a distance of about 750 miles. The Yangtzo plain extends inland 1,000 miles. These extensive plains equal in area that of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Kentucky, and constitute the great agricultural resources of Chins. They now support an enormous populationfully 40 per cent. of China's total-and furnish food and raw materials for export Among the most extensively cultivated agricultural products of Northern and Central China are soya beans, rice, cotton, ten, silk, ground nuts, hemp, juto, castor oil, apricots, etc. Of farm products, eggs, egg slbumin, feathers, etc. are exported in great quantities. Animal products such as furs, wool, skins and hides, goat skins, and bristles form very portant part of China's exports. MINEUAL BESOURCES. Generally speaking there is a variety of mineral resources in most of the provinces of China and scientific surveys are almost sure to reveal mineral deposits now unknown, even to the Chitiese. The most abundant mineral deposits of the country consist of cost and iron. The largest coal area in Northern China consists of the Shan at field occupying the province of that name but extending into the neighbouring provinces of Honen, Child-lin Shen al, and Kan au This territory lies Centward of the pailroad. line extending from Hankow to Peking-It has been estimated that in this field there were more than 30,000 square miles of coal. The coul of the eastern section is mainly anthracite, while that be the Characty Trust Company of New York, western part is hisuminous. It is asserted by experts that there is sufficient fuel there to supply the whole world for thousands of years. The authracite area several coal fields accessible to railroads and to sea transportation, which are being extensively operated at present. To the south of Hankow is another important coal area located in the province of Kiang-si which is being mined

> Like coal, from is widely distributed in China, and is often found closely associated with it. Ho-nan, to the north, and Kiang-si, to the south, of Hankow, are reported to be rich in iron ore." The the Hanyehping Company, which are located at Hankow, and which produce approximately 150,000 tons of pig iron yearly. The extent and quality of the from ore deposits of China are not dein Chica are quito similar to those of the United States and Brazil'. Antimony also appears to be very abundant in Ho-nan and Kinng-si, and there is a considerable export trade of this metal. Clay deposits are found quite extensively in the north-custern section of the province of Kinng-si and furnished material for the important pottery industry that has grown up there. Among other minerals mined in China are gold. silver, sulphur, asbestos, tin, lead, etc.

THE AWAKENING OF A NATION.

China has beenpied a place of more or less complete separation from the rest the world. The psiuntain areas the North-West, West, and South-West impeded communication with transacted through the seaports of this peoples of those sections, while the great expanse of the seas has restricted the relations with the peoples across the water. Thus the Chinese, of all the large nations, have been allowed to live a life, of isolation, which, in certain respects, has fed to stagnation, rather than growth of industry. But China is gradually awakening and is opening for the development of her immense resources, of which sheehas little definite knowledge.

> A considerable portion of central and northern China has passed through the agricultural stage," and is ready to enter the "industrial stage. The supply of cheap and industrious labour, a variety of natural resources, and sufficient food immediately available, constitute a remarkable combination of economic factors awaiting the touch of industrial and financial leadership. It is a rare opportunity in China's history's The Asia Banking Corporation, will form another link between America and China and will play constructive part in opening the way: for trade, capital, and the formation of . better spirit between the Occident and the Orient.

DO ONE THING PROPERLY. A Hint Regarding Work and Health.

The people who most often succeed in life are not those versatile souls who can turn their hands to anything-Jack of all trades, master of none-but those who devote themselves to doing one thing only and doing it well. So it is with business. Not only people get rich by turning a sewing-machine which will make anything you like; but fortunes are made by an automatic machine that turns out just one little bolt or screw all

In medicine that which does the most good is the one which does one thing only, and does it well-that is, Dr. Williams' F'nk pills for pale people, which make good, rich plentiful red blood, and nothing else. All the good effects which famous result from their wonderful power of blood-making. The firm step, brain-power, iron-elad digestion, firm, red lips, and clear eye, that are conspicuous when Dr. Williams pink pills are taken-all come from the rich, red blood that they make.

"If you are ailing or losing energy you pills now. Any dealer can supply you, or sent direct, one bottle for $1.50, six the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai. How and why Dr. Williams pink pills achieve their wonderful results is explained in a free book, "The Blood and Its Work," for which you should send a post card to the above address.

INCITING TO SHOOT THE

Li Loi was indicted on three charges -(a) robbery by two or more man, (b) soliciting to shoot with intent to resist arrest, and (c) soliciting to strike with intent to resist arrest. The Crawn Solicitor (the Hon. Mr. J. H. Kemp), prosecuted. The prisoner was undefended.

The following jury were empanelled: Messrs, J. J. Judah (foreman), C. A. B. Brooks, W. A. Cornell, F. Gomes, P. S. labour, Sutherland, I. da. Rocha and A. R. F.

Putting it shoully, the Crown Scheiter. said, the prisoner was charged with variation of the second one. The first charge, which was robbery with other case a money changer was scated in his shop at 8 o'clock and someone came in and, pretending to change money, pointed a revolver, and rifled his shop. The master of the shop would say that the robbery took place by some one. The peculiar point of this case was that the only evidence that could be produced sion was made under circumstances which the Crown Solicitor considered satisfactory, It was made after due caution, and he thought the jury would be satisfied that the confession their services in conquering was true. What he said on the robbery charge was: "I did take part anatching the money. Lung Sa Kwai did not take the money. I and Lun Kwong snatched the money." The confession was made a day, after his arrest. The other crime was that of inciting another man to attack the Police when they came to arrest the prisoner. That was on the 14th instant. On that day the Police arranged to make a raid on a certain tea-house at "Yaumati. The arrangement was that a man called Li Fat should go in first and sit down in a tea shop. there and help in arresting the prisoner.

Li Fat went into the ten-house, sat down at one table while the prisoner with another was seated on a table further on near the Ikitchen wall. The prisoner saw the Police come and sat up. Li Fat, seeing that the prisoner was attempting to pull out his revolver, seized him. The prisoner called out "Shoot him" two or three times making a motion with his hand Lung Sai Kwan, his confederate. Fat then pulled prisoner in front of his accomplice to avoid being shot. ### STARVED BRITISH PRISONERS FROM GERMANY.

WAR-HARDENED FRENCHMEN HORRIFIED.

MANY RELEASED PRISONERS DIE ON THE ROADSIDE.

LONDON, Nov., 10.

Renter's Correspondent at French Headquarters, telegraphing yesterday, says:- "

Thousands of war prisoners, mostly British, are entering France daily. I have never seen human beings in such a state of raggedness, hanger and misery. When the camps at Farback and elsewhere on the Rhine were broken up the prisoners, mostly captured in the March offensive were told to clear out and seek the Relp of their Allies. They started towalk distances of from 50 to 60 miles , and 'were not given food', not even a mouthful of bread. They had nomoney and were in shameful rugs. The soles were dropping off their boots or they wore clogs, without socks. They left in droves of hundreds in charge of officers and soldiera who deserted after a few hours. The weather being very cold, many died on the roads de a few miles from

When the survivors entered the French lines the Frenchmen, hardened to horiors of war, were horrified to see men in such plight. # SCOTTISH LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

EDINBURGH, Sept. 30. BOLSHEVISM ON THE CLYDE. Once more the Clyde is the centre of industrial unrest, on this occasion of the most dangerous character. The shipwrights, in defiunce of constituted Tinde Union authority, have taken the aw into their own hands and censed work at a time when they should be producing the most necessary ingredient of victory for the Allies-more ships. Their claim is for a minimum wage of £5 per Teek; their present wage is about 73s, and this might be considerably increased if they consented to piecework methods.

. The fact is that the Clyde shipwrights; the great majority of whom are loyal and anxious to do their duty, have again allowed themselves to be led away by a test noisy extremists, who, in furtherance of Bolshevist or pacifies views, foment every grievance at every possible opportunity, . Most of these men, but for their occupation, would be in the 'Army. They have not been eniled upon to show courage, and they decline to show industry. They are not interested so much in the improvement of trade conditions as in the creation of an atmosphere of unrest. The great mass of the Trade Unionists are themselves to blame for all this trouble. They have failed to take an active part in the runnugement of their Unions, and have allowed these bodies to drift into the hands of men who, do not represent the real feelings of the Workers, and take every megasion to create trouble.

The attitude of the shipwrights is the more depiorable in view of the spirit shown by "their fellow-tradesmen in the United States. That country has, for the first time, exreceded the shipbuilding output of the United Kingdom-a gratifying fact from the point of view of the Allies, but one which should cause some reflection on the part of those who are interested in maintaining the shipbuilding pre-eminence of this country after the war.

A PUBLIC DISCLAIMER.

A notice appears in the Morning. Post in a prominent position stating that Lady Murgaret Campbell is not. and does not intend in any way to make herself responsible for bay debts that may be incurred by or on behalf of her son, Mr. Jain Edward Herbert Cambbell, either for hinself or for or by his wife, Mrs. Matie Laura Campbell. It is an unusual notice for a mother to issue in reson has passed his thirty-third birthalter cases. The gentleman in question is the nephew and heir of "lord Breadalbane, and is an only child. His father, Captain the Hon. Ivan Campbell, who died last year, in 188married Lady Margaret. Agar, daughter of the third Earl of Normanton. # THE NEW MURMANSK.

A TRAYELLER'S GLIMPSE.

[An Englishman who has recently schurned to England from Titlis, in the Caucasus, by way of Moscow, Archangel and Murmansk, souls the " Manchester Guardian " the following account of his experience after reaching Moscow.] We arrived in Moscow on the 13th June. The city was outwardly quiet at I that fine, but it was evident that considerable surgest prevailed and that troubles might start at any time. Most of the shops, especially provision shops, were more or less empty of food, and it was extremely difficult to obtain supplies. A very meagre lunch cost Ris. 40 or Bls.50, and a dinner anything from Rls.70 to Rls.100. Some few of us were lucky enough, thanks to the help of the British Consulate, to find accompodation with English families still living in Moacow, and fared comparatively well, and he writer has a special debt of gratitude to English friends living in the city. The town bore many traces of the troublous times through which it had fecently passed-very few whole sheets. glass remaining in the big shops on the Tverskaja, Kuznetski, Most, etc. many of the shop fronts being completely bourded up. Parts of the Kremlin had suffered, and the Hotel Metropole on the Theatre Square was budly damaged, Svidently by shell fire. Still, in spite of everything, business was being carried on, and the boulevards in the evenings were crowded as of old with the will

On the 22nd of June we joined a party of about forcy Britishers in a special waggon and left, for Archangel. We hould have been well advised to go straight to Murmanyk, but rumour had it that the line had been broken somewhere above Vologda. However, we arrived in Archangel on the 25th of June and were given accommodation as one of the heat schools, fugether with a large party of French refugees. After several hours' delay, and in the early morning, we were allowed to proceed escorted by the Russian, and British yachts. The steamer we were on had cabin accommodation for perhaps 30 to 40 people, and as we owere at least 600 we had to make the best of things either on deck one on rough benches in the hold. Most of us preferred the cold on deck to the smells of the hold, and as, naturally, there was no darkness at this time of the year we did not fare so badly, although the wind was arctic. All heaved a sight of reltef as we cleared for the open sea, and our feelings, were still more, relieved when we arrived ut Kandalaksha and saw for the first time British and French troops in occupation. MURMANSK TRANSFORMED.

Arrangements, were quickly made for trains to take us to Muramusk, where COAL, GENERAL, IMPORTS and we arrived on the 18th July .. Here we were met by members of the British and French Consular staff, who had amanged accommodation for us in wooden barracks on the hill overlooking the harbour. Each nationality-British, French. Belgian, and Italian-hadrits own barrack-hut; which, although rather over crowded and more or less infested with vermin, was at least warm and dry. Here we had to stay until the 6th o August, each but sending its own orderlies each day for army rations for the party, which were issued, by the British military authorities under authority, from the Consulate. The men of the party of military age (from 18 to 51) were nearly all requisitioned by the military, chiefly for use as Russian interpreters. Within two or three days from our arrival we saw our uwkward squad already in uniform, drilling on the pier. About week's training was evidently considered sufficient for the duties they had to perfitted out for Archangel.". We had the and heard after two or three days of their successful entrys into Archangel. practically without opposition.

Murmonsk reminded us of what we had read of the mushroom towns of America, From an insignificant fishing village it is being rapidly transformed into a bush port, with its harbour full of shipping, crowds of wooden houses being built, streets laid out, railway lines being extended here and there, and extra quays being constructed to deal with the ships which are constantly arriving. TIERE is a story of Action, none more noble, thrilling, daring, self-sacrificing in the history of the war. These men went out on the eve of St. George's Day 1918 to do two things-to stop, in some measure, the German submarine menace and to prove yet once again to all the world that the British Navy is the same in spirit, the same in genius, the same in noble self-sacrifice as it was in the days of Nelson and far down the ages. And they did them both. They succeeded with the fullest measure of brilliant success. They went out to greet what they regarded as certain death, they stormed the breakwater of Zeebrugge, blocked the Bruges Canal and inscribed such a story of action on the annals of the great war as will be told and retold long after the present generation has passed from the scene. They made history. Did they hesitate? No. Had they hesitated the great adventure would have failed.

Now, it is your turn to Thousands of young fellows have been maimed in this war. The heroic, noble and monumental work of restoring the wounded to their wonted activities typifles the great human and humane side of the struggle. We have won a great victory, but at a terrible price. The work of healing the human wreckage calls for all the help and support—all the action—that true allegiance to the cause of civilization can give. Do not hesitate. There was no hesitation on the part of the boys. Signalise your appreciation of all they have done for you by a little self-sacrifice for them. They will appreciate it; and don't forget that you cannot give too much.

Heather Day, St. Andrew's Fair and the War Bond Drawing offer an unique opportunity for residents of Hongkong to send a Victory Offering to help the great work of the hospitals.
